PROJECTS ADVANCED ON BEHALF OF LABOR

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE].

Atlantic City, N. J., June 10.—Important projects for the advancement of labor and improvement of working conditions, as well as comprehensive outlines of what has been accomplished on labor's behalf during the past year, are set forth in the report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, submitted Monday to the officers and delegates attending the opening session of the thirty-ninth annual convention.

The advent of peace is taken by the council to hold out bright prospects for labor. Of the peace treaty, itself, the labor executives forming the council, after endorsing the "triumph of freedom and justice and democracy as exemplified in the covenant of the league of nations," says that the labor sections are a compromise, but that it must, however, "be a source of deepest satisfaction to the American working people to know that the American position and the American declaration as presented for insertion in the treaty ranked above all others in point of progress measured and in point of actual and practical application to the lives of the working people."

Whatever of compromise appears was made because of the claim that other nations of the world could not pledge themselves to an immediate and definite acceptance of the established practice of our day.

Foremost among the matters submitted by the council to the convention are suggestions dealing with the rights and prerogatives of the legislative branch of our government by the judiciary.

ABSENCE OF PROPER LIGHTING EQUIPMENT HALTS SHOW OPENING

Hundreds of persons who came downtown last night to witness the opening of the World's Fair Shows, under the auspices of the Elks for the Salvation Army Home Service drive, were disappointed and went home. There was nothing to see last night unless a person took delight in watching a few mechanics attempting to start a bulky motor on the Wharf.

As early as 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon it was evident that the shows were not going to be ready for the grand opening and despite the assurances of the Elks that there would be nothing doing Monday night.

Electrical work retarded the progress of the show and when the opening hour rolled around there were several shows and concessions without the necessary lights.

Along about 7:30 o'clock, Professor Cole's band, which by far was the only redeeming feature of the evening, gave a concert which was greatly appreciated by the crowd.

Officials of the carnival company assert that everything would have been ready for the opening if the electrical workers had carried out their agreement. They said arrangements had been made for the installation of the electrical equipment and when the time came for the work to be started the men refused to go ahead with the work and others could not be secured until nearly six o'clock, and at that hour it was impossible to finish the work.

The work will be renewed today and all shows and rides will be ready for the opening at 7 o'clock tonight.

It's Too Late, Maurice! She's Strong on Questions

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS].

London, June 10.—The young girl was shown through the locomotive works of a "big" railway company. "What is that thing?" she asked, pointing with her parasol. "That," replied the manager, "is an engine boiler." She was an up-to-date lady, and at once became deeply interested. "And why do they boil engines?" she inquired again. "To make the engine tender," politely replied the resourceful guide.

PEACE and WAR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS].

While the peace conference heads are devoting much of their time as to the framing of the reply to the German counter proposals, this work has not yet reached such a stage as to make possible the naming of a definite date for the resumption of the negotiations to the German plenipotentiaries.

There has been considerable interference with the deliberations of the Council of Four over this question of primary interest. Monday, for instance, the Council was compelled to devote much of its session to consideration of the situation in Czechoslovakia, where the advance of the Hungarian soviet troops brought about a serious situation.

An ultimatum has been sent to the Hungarian government, it is reported, demanding that the advance into Czechoslovakia be stopped and threatening to use allied troops to force Hungary to abandon her invasion of her neighbor's territory.

The main question which the council now is considering in connection with the German treaty is the proposed change in the covenant in the league of nations, whereby the terms of Germany's admission would be made easier. The proposed change is said to be prompted mainly by a desire to forestall the possible formation of another combination of nations with Russia, Germany and the other German allies taking the leading roles. It is felt in some quarters, according to advices, that it would be easier to deal with Germany as a member of the league than if she remained outside.

The Turkish delegation en route to France on board a French warship is to appear before the peace conference merely as a matter of capacity, and its members will not be considered plenipotentiaries. There has as yet been no definite statement whether a treaty with Turkey will be negotiated.

An important political event set for today is the national convention of the majority socialist party at Weimer. The meeting of this party, its first since it took control of the government, is expected to have a considerable bearing on the government's future course, not only as regards Germany's foreign relations, but her internal affairs.

These 16 Maxwell Trucks
Ran 90,010 Miles; Total
Repair Cost, $830.59

IT is one thing for a motor truck to show long mileage on gas, oil and tires—and quite another to stay out of the repair shop. Maxwell trucks have become well known for their obvious economy. This deals only with the repair side of the Maxwell.

It is printed after the second mail of returns has come in from a canvass of 10,000 Maxwell owners. The first fifteen trucks examined showed a mileage of 109,700 at a total repair cost of $313.07.

These sixteen did not do quite so well, yet they hung up the magnificent average of $.009+ per mile on repairs.

One ran 20,000 miles at a cost of $220. A second covered 12,000 miles at a cost of $12. A third did 5000 miles at a cost of $15. Another passed 4320 miles without a penny's cost. Still another passed 3000 at no cost. Again a fifth did 4000—and no cost.

It is further proof of the contention that Maxwell trucks are efficient in more ways than one: they run at small cost and it doesn't cost much to keep them running.

A further analysis disclosed 15, 18, 22 miles to the gallon of gas, 200, 250, 275 miles to the gallon of oil. And not a single owner among these sixteen hesitated to state he would purchase Maxwells again!

Maxwell is the efficient motor truck. Because it earns its cost in a short time, and saves many a good dollar in freedom from repairs. Price for chassis $1085 f. o. b. Detroit.

PROGRESS IN THE AIR.

Today we are witnessing an actual step in the world's progress. It tells us with wonder and admiration at man's intelligence and persistence.
We have heard of airplanes carrying men and mail in exhibition flights; then we have seen passenger transportation; later as machines of war, and finally as commercial vehicles. Today we are able to see the actual performance of one of those winged air-birds, transporting merchandise from the metropolis of the middle west to our cities. Distance means little as the speed with which these express planes travel is faster than any railway train or automobile.

How many readers of the Gazette, say 10 years ago, would have dreamed that they would have their papers delivered to them by airplane? How many now can visualize the future with huge machines winging their way from business and business center, leaving express and mail?
It is not difficult to believe that within a few years the airplane will be used as a dependable means of commercial transportation. The machines which are now being built are perfectly suited to a degree that mis-happens are the minimum. With added improvements in construction greater loads will be carried with little more danger to passengers than those offered by the automobile or the railway train.

This is an epoch in the history of Janesville. We have been one of the first communities to be put on the airplane express route. This does not mean that the airships will just be operated as a novelty or an advertisement. It means that a permanent service has been instituted. With this one proving successful, others will come. It is not out of place to make the prediction that other concerns will follow the lead taken by this first one and soon Janesville will be a stopping place for regular express ships.

BUILD NOW!

The American home owner is the man who has discovered that thrift is something more than the hoarding of money. The family "sack" and the old china teapot may be chuck full of dimes and quarters, or five and ten dollar gold pieces, and yet thrift may be unknown to the head of the house.
He may be only a miser!

Thrift not only saves intelligently, but it puts savings to work not only does it save a dollar, but it puts that dollar where it will thrive, where it can earn and labor for the welfare and comfort of its owner.

On account of suspended building operations during the war, the United States now needs almost a million homes. That means rents are high.
If you don't own a home you must pay tribute to the hard necessities which have brought about a scarcity of homes. Unless home building gets under way immediately, when our millions of soldiers return to civil life and when our thousands of war workers have been living in government buildings get back to where they must have apartments and houses, rents are going to be higher.

Thrift of the intelligent, will put present savings to work that future rental expenses may be escaped.
Present savings invested now in a home will emancipate your pocket book from the demands of the rent collector. Be intelligently thrifty—
build now.

VACATION EARNINGS.

The school vacation, just about to begin, is a time of relaxation for both teacher and pupil. But relaxation does not necessarily mean idleness. A change in employment, diverting the mind from one subject to another, often proves more beneficial than so-called complete rest.

The teacher whose pupils find ways of earning money during the vacation period will have the realization that he or she is discharging well the responsibilities of thrift education.
Knowing the opportunities open to boys and pointing them out to pupils is part of the thrift education. If the teacher helps to make the style thrift and industry. Instead of waste and idleness, there will be the co-operation of the instinctive imitation.

The eagerness with which boys take newspaper routes, shows how instinctive it is to be independent. No amount of effort is too great for the child if he is led sympathetically over the roughest places when he sees the use to which his work is to be put.
He wants to be something and to do something. Perhaps he wants to save for a college fund, or for winter clothes, and he will be anxious to earn something during vacation.

In this connection a recent message to school children by Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury, is pertinent.
"I summon you to solve one of America's greatest financial problems:
How to make permanent among our people the habits of thrift begun during the war."

"Your investments in War Savings stamps helped win the war. The victory has been won—let us carry over into peace time two of the great lessons of the war—the value of thrift and the fact your government come interest in having a part in financing it. I call upon you to share in the 1919 National War Savings campaign by studying means and methods of thrift, and by investing your savings in War Savings stamps. To you I intrust the responsibility for making the future America a nation of thrift."

ACTIONS AND IDEALS.

Roses will bloom for him who cares
to toll.
Men cannot gather blossoms from afar;

Who longs for flowers must struggle with the soil.
And battle with conditions as they are.

We cannot sit contentedly and dream.
Our thoughts must be recorded in our deeds.
Unlighted candles never cast a gleam.
Unplanted gardens quickly run to weeds.

The buried talent was a talent lost.
The wish for beauty in itself is vain.
Unless for beauty we will pay the cost.
The ugliness and horror will remain.
Who longs to see the dew-kissed roses grow.

Must brave the sun and fight the stubborn clay;
Must bend his back and labor with the hoe,
And fight with weeds and insects
day by day.

Lost is the truth for which men will not fight.
Vain is the dream for which men will not care.
'Tis not enough to know and love the right,
All that is good needs man's protecting care.

We must be strong and vigilant and brave.
Hardworking, patient and determined in our dreams our freedom save.
The tyrant weeds are quick to grow again.

In action must our purposes be told.
In deeds of glory we must write our views;
Must gird with might the visions that we hold,
Or all our sons have fought for we shall lose.

Roses will bloom for him who cares
to toll.
Who fights the weeds and insects
day by day,
And we, within whose care, is freedom's soil
Must keep the weeds of anarchy away.

ON THE SPUR
of the MOMENT

—ROY E. MOULTON

On a New York Central train, a slight time ago one of those old "boys" who affect gallantries, youthful dress and other follies which they imagine disguise their "three score" and make them irresistible to the fair sex, vacant seat in the dining car. The only vacant seat in the car was at one of these tete-a-tete tables opposite a very bewitching "lady." Pulling out the unoccupied chair, he bowed low to the young woman and with just enough emphasis on the word "young" to plead the playfulness of age if called down, said: "You won't mind having a nice young man dining opposite you, will you?" "No, indeed,"
she replied, "I shall be delighted.
Bring him in."

TRY THIS ON YOUR PIANO.

"Come on, Charlie," let's take
"A Little Journey,"
"Up in Mabel's Room," cause she and
"The Woman in Room 13" are "Friendly Enemies." Have
"The Velvet Lady."
"Come along, for
"She's a Good Fellow," or
"Lighten Stripes," or
"Take It from Me."
Sometime soon we will say
"Good Morning, Judge," for
"Our Unpleasant Sin." Should you think this
"The Jest," I'll know you're
"Somebody's Sweetheart" or one of "Daddies."
"Three Wise Fools." So instead I'll
"Cappy Ricks" and we'll "Tumble In" to
"33 East," and no doubt as
"It Happens to Everybody," we'll be "Happy."
"Forever After." —Albert V. Voice.

ALL RIGHT, OLD PAL.

Dear Roy: Allow me to correct you! The best piece of news since the signing of the armistice was that of the landing of Read in Lisbon. We are glad to see that the English was saved, but the best news? Oh, shame, SHAME on you!—The Green-point Rambler.

FRANK ARTHUR VANDERLIP.
Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank in New York and famous American financier and corporation head, has returned from Europe with a story of appalling conditions.

F. H. VANDERLIP

He spoke at a dinner in New York recently and stated that England is on the verge of a revolution.
He said that America alone
could save Europe, and that its aid must be extended to all countries equally.
Food conditions
in Europe will be worse next year
instead of better
and the suffering
after the war will be greater than it was during the war, he asserted.
He quoted a British minister as saying that means would have to be found to send six or seven million Englishmen out of the British Isles and closer to the sources of food production.

Italy is afraid to disband her army because she cannot employ the men and is afraid of idleness, he said.
Mr. Vanderlip is not an alarmist, and his warnings made a deep impression.

Never before have Firestone Tires been so decidedly better than others as they now are. So, for months back dealers, car owners and truck operators have been saying: "It's the

And on top of this quality advantage offered in the improved

THRIFT IS KEYNOTE STRUCK BY W. S. S. COUNTY ORGANIZERS

Education in thrift was the keynote struck at the W. S. S. association convention at the high school Monday afternoon.

H. H. Faust, city school superintendent, spoke of the work accomplished by the school children in the city. He emphasized the importance of getting the children to save the money which they earn this summer and purchase stamps when school opens. To stay late in the thrift, the government has provided hand grenades, souvenirs of the war, to be used as banks for all children under 10 years of age who purchase one stamp. Children over 10 years must purchase two stamps to win the grenade, the speaker said.

Anderson, Chief Speaker.

The speaker of the meeting, C. J. Anderson, in his address to the association. He dwelt, with many timely examples of the extravagance of the American people.

The prosperity of our community depends on the thriftless element, but upon the savings of people invested in industries. Savings have made possible all that we have in our community. Savings have made possible the ownership of all land in Rock county.

"This question of thrift should not be dodged. It is a problem which all should approach willingly. A campaign of thrift education must be waged to teach people the true value of money."

"In Wisconsin various means have been devised to teach the children of our state the value of money."

Leaving the keynote of the subject of thrift, the speaker took up the formation of adult societies, especially in the rural districts.

"These community clubs, if properly formed, should have at least one of the members of the community."

"It is the state plan to notify the district school clerks, after the annual school meeting, to convene again and organize a community club, which for one of its purposes would teach thrift."

The formation of W. S. S. societies in women's clubs, churches, factories and public postoffices was urged by the speaker.

The closing thought of the address was that America has a tremendous debt to pay which, if thrift is not fostered among Americans, will equal that incurred by the foreign powers in the past wars.

Postmaster Expresses Thanks.

J. J. Cunningham, local postmaster, expressed his thanks to the teachers and carriers for the noble work which they did in the W. S. S. drive. He gave instructions to his carriers for carrying on the sale in the rural districts.

The report of the society was read by the postmaster. The following county officers were appointed by the committee: Chairman, H. H. Faust; secretary, O. D. Antisdel; chairman of women's societies, Miss Margaret Patterson; chairman of banks, J. E. Schaller; chairman of schools, O. D. Antisdel; chairman of factories, J. A. Blackman; chairman of postoffices, J. J. Cunningham. For the city schools the four city principals were appointed. A chairman was also appointed for each township and town.

Music was furnished by the high school orchestra.

BOSTWICK PICNICKERS INVADe LAKE KOSH

Everybody had a "rip snorting time" at the Bostwick state picnic last evening, even if the truck was an hour overdue. They ate twice as much when the 88 employees came down to dinner at Howard's hotel, Lake Koshkonong, at 7:20 o'clock.

Joseph Guenther and Herbert Dornfeld straggled gaily on a guitar and a mandolin alluding to the fact that they and the other musicians who accompanied them, contributed the music for the dancing.

Each sought his favorite pastime, when the lake was reached. Wilbur Ryan (and he is not alone) acted as gondolier and piloted many a fair damsel out on Lake Koshkonong.

Roy Kaminett was the center of the crowd, and some of the participants claim that they didn't take the time to dance, as they were too busy watching the chief actors, portrayed by—that only those who were there know who.

JANESVILLE WILL SEE AIRPLANE STUNTS IF FIELD IS PREPARED

Janesville has the opportunity of witnessing a "flying circus" Thursday morning if a suitable landing place can be found here.

This was announced by Lieut. H. C. Morfari, Camp Grant today, following a long distance telephone invitation from the Gazette to the aviation section to give Janesville citizens an exhibition of the aerial antics that were part of the grim business in the skies overseas.

The Gazette wired an invitation to the aviation section yesterday morning with the result that Lieut. W. Mills flew here in a plane shortly before 4:30 o'clock. He was looking for a place to land. He swooped low over the field several times but did not land and returned to Camp Grant to notify Lieut. Morfari that the flying show might come here if the long grass inside the half-mile track could be cut to provide a landing place.

"Janesville will be able to have a flying show if the grass is cut," said Lieut. Morfari over the phone today. "We are planning a number of expeditions and will visit Janesville providing the grass at the fair grounds is cut."

Officials of the fair association could not be reached this afternoon when efforts were made to see if the field could be prepared for a landing place.

Lieut. William Mills and a crew of 12 men are expected to give an exhibition in Beloit tomorrow afternoon. If Janesville sees fit to induce him to come here he will arrive at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon, start at night and fly over the city and land at the fair grounds at the city Thursday morning. Another plane may possibly accompany him.

Capt. Alex McLeod will come here in another plane on a recruiting expedition Friday and Saturday if the field is prepared.

INTERURBAN LEAVES TRACK; ONE INJURED

Al. Kneff, Beloit, a former resident of Janesville, was badly out about the head and body, and four others narrowly escaped serious injury, when the 6 o'clock southbound Rockford interurban car left the track and ran into a pile of lumber on South Main street this morning.

Mr. Kneff was thrown from the car and suffered several bad cuts and minor bruises. He was unable to return to his home after receiving treatment, without any injuries other than a severe shaking up.

According to the story told by officials, the car was traveling on the track when it left the track. The front of the car svered with the trucks and was buried deep in the marsh alongside the road. The rear trucks did not leave the track.

Service on the Janesville Traction line and the Interurban system was halted, as it was impossible for cars to pass, the wrecked car being completely across the tracks.

Passengers from Beloit and Rockford on the interurban are being transferred at the point of the accident. Local cars will be halted until the track is cleared.

the supplies for the American soldiers and the allies were unloaded.

He told them how a steady stream of boats had run from American harbors to Brest and back during the war to carry the soldiers and supplies across.

As the plane drew nearer the harbor the children could see miles and miles of docks. Captain Brave told them how 11 miles of docks had been built in a wonderfully short space of time by America so that the boats would have plenty of room to land.

Captain Brave brought the plane to a stop in the harbor alongside the dock and they all climbed out. As the children walked along the dock they saw mountains and mountains of crates and boxes and huge piles of lumber and steel. Jack wondered why there should be so much of it after the war was ended until Captain Brave told him that most of the supplies he saw there were being used now to help the folks in the war-torn countries to start their factories and shops again and rebuild their homes and churches and stores destroyed during the war.

The Eretons, for that is what the people in that part of France are called, knew by Captain Brave's uniform and the clothes that Lady Jane and the children wore that they must be from America, and all had pleasant smiles for the children and their friends. Soldiers along the dock who were directing the moving of the supplies on and off the ships, saluted Captain Brave and some of them spoke to him.

Jack and Jane gazed curiously at the strange clothes the folk along the street wore, and you would too, but we will tell you more about that later. Jack's curiosity got the better of him and he said, "Where are we going now, Captain Brave?"

"You are going to pay your first visit to a real army camp," said Captain Brave. "We are going out to the camp where the soldiers stopped on their arrival in France and where they waited for boats to take them back after the war."

Jack clapped his hands in glee and Jane was tickled, too, for both had heard so much about army camps. Uncle George had written them lots of times about life at camp, but I will have to wait until tomorrow to tell about this one.

GRADUATING CLASS EXERCISES WILL BE HELD THIS EVENING

The class of 1919 of the Janesville high school will make its initial graduating bow at the Myers opera house this evening, at 8 o'clock. The program will not breathe the solemnity of commencement, but will be of a lighter vein.

The talent of the class will, history, prophecy, poem, song and the mace. All of these numbers will be humorous and will reveal the "ill pet peeves" of the seniors.

The custom of presenting the mace which has been in vogue for the last five years, will be carried out this evening. The presentation of the mace by a graduate and the acceptance by a representative of the junior classes is symbolic of the senior class forfeiting its rights to the junior class.

Edwin Fisher, senior class president, will give the customary address of welcome. The winners of the history prizes will be named and medals awarded by H. H. Faust, superintendent of schools. The history contest was given under the auspices of the O. A. U. children of the city schools taking part.

Much effort has been expended by the glee clubs for their part in the program, and under the direction of Mrs. Alice Shearer Thomas they will give the musical part of the program. The class song will be led by the song writers, the Misses Elizabeth Denning and Florence Hunt. The program for this evening follows:

High school orchestra, overture, "Barcarolle," by Kussner, direction of Mrs. Alice Shearer Thomas; address of welcome, Edwin Fisher, president of class of 1919; class history, Constance Cunningham; class poem, Evelyn Dixon; class will, Hubert Roy; mace, "The Mace," by Leo Dugan; Girls' Glee club, direction of Mrs. Alice Shearer Thomas; class prophecy, Mildred Smith; Alice Barlow, Thomas Nuzum; presentation of mace, Earl Yarn; presentation of class token, Austin Sprackling; presentation of history prizes, H. H. Faust, superintendent of schools; class song, written by Florence Hunt and Elizabeth Denning, direction of Mrs. Alice Shearer Thomas.

Voice of the People

To The Editor:
At the last meeting of the city Council a movement was inaugurated with the view of removing all outside closets within four months, on streets having water and a sewer. So short a notice would work a great hardship to many who have a very limited amount of funds at hand. If any There are scores and perhaps hundreds of persons who would have to jeopardize their homes by mortgaging them to raise the necessary funds on so short a notice. I believe in a clean and sanitary city; but innovations should not be so radical and sudden as to cause distress and probably the loss of one's home.

EVANSVILLE HAS PLENTY DOIN' TODAY

(By Special Correspondent)
Evansville, June 10.—Plenty doin' in Evansville today, specially this afternoon. For it is Tuesday, June 10, 1919, when the first airship used for express purposes, and carrying merchandise from Chicago to Beloit, Janesville and Madison, made its trial trip.

Although it makes no landing in this city, yet it will fly low, coming down near enough to Mother Earth to drop the 700 copies of the Janesville Gazette at the fair grounds. This is a special edition of the paper edited purposely to travel from Janesville to Evansville over the air route.

Following the visit of the airplane at 2:40 p. m., is the pageant given by the children of the grades at Leonard park at 3 o'clock. For weeks the children have been practicing and rehearsing for this event and it promises to be one of unusual merit.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My husband bought a suit of clothes at a payment store here in the city. He paid $10 down and since he has paid $2.50 he has been out of work and unable to meet these payments. Now the collector says he can sell our household goods for the debt.

Can he do this? I know he could, but I don't want to see my husband's wages, but could he take our furniture? He threatens to do this. I have offered to pay $1 a week. I have offered to pay $1 a week. I have offered to pay $1 a week.

I think that the collector is trying to scare you into paying all you can. He can take the suit back, but he cannot touch your household goods. If you pay him a dollar a week he cannot start any kind of trouble for you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 24 years old and have been married five years. I have two little children and am going to have a third. My husband has never been good to me. I left him three different times and sued for divorce, but he always begged me so to come back that I gave in. Three months ago we started all over again. Now he does not beat me, but he talks cruelly to me and it is breaking my heart to live with him. He is always blaming me for having children, but I am true to him and my home.

I am all alone in this country. I haven't got a friend to advise me. I am from Norway and all of my people are there.

Please tell if it will be right for me to take my children and live with my mother. If so, I will be glad to support them. I am a LONELY NORWEGIAN.

Doubtless you have grounds for a divorce, and you should receive alimony. Alimony is not a satisfactory arrangement in many cases. It is easy for the man to avoid paying. Do not leave your husband until you have consulted a lawyer and found out definitely what you can expect. With so many children, it may be easier to stand your husband's unkindness than to support yourself and the children.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years old. There is a soldier boy whom I love very much. Before he enlisted to go to war he came to see me and he swore to me while he was in the war. When he was fighting he was wounded. Now he is on this side of the ocean in a hospital.

He came home last month to see me and he stayed one week. While he was here he took me places and called my home his home. But he went out of town to see another girl. He still writes to me.

I would like to find out whether he loves me or not. He wanted me to marry him. Do you think he would be kind to me if I did marry him?

BLUE EYES.

You are several years too young to marry. Do not worry about the boy's love. Accept his friendship and do not try to force a declaration of love. Since he proposed to you, I should judge that he loved you at that time. Youth is apt to be fickle and so he may have taken an interest in another girl since then.

Do not be jealous because you have no cause to be. The boy certainly likes you or he would not keep up his end of the correspondence.

BLACK WOOL TRIMS WHITE SPORT SUIT

By ELOISE.

Everybody wants a sports suit. They have come to be one of the essentials of every well dressed woman's wardrobe just like shoes and hats and gloves. Most women and girls choose things to be said in favor of jersey. It does not wrinkle as other materials. It comes in dark, practical shades as well as the brilliant hues. It is a dress which weight and can be made in many attractive styles. It is also less expensive than the sports silks which are popular just now.

Many women who like sports suits complain because they claim that the styles are too much alike. Here, then, is the very suit for those women. It is fashioned of white silk and would be a great deal like a lot of other sports suits if the designer had not decided to use black brushed wool as trimming. But he did decide to use it and now the suit with its novel black and white effect is different from every other sports suit and will please even the most fastidious woman. The long stole collar and pocket tabs are of the black wool and while it may look like a jersey sports suit, it is not. It is made of white and black and the black on the coat is so soft and easily and the black on the skirt forms the wide cuff at the hem of the skirt forms the narrow lines about the ankle, which are the season's fad.

Big Day For County.

Merrill, June 10.—Friday was without a doubt the biggest day Lincoln county has seen for a long while. For it was the official day of welcome to the new Lincoln County company of the 32nd division. Bands of Rhinelander, Merrill and Tomahawk made music for the gala event in which official welcome and tribute was paid to Lincoln County's fighting company.

Pieces of Eight

Being the authentic narrative of a treasure discovered in the Bahamas Islands in the Year 1859, now first given to the public.

By RICHARD LE GALLIENNE.

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Co. CHAPTER II.

The Narrative of Henry P. Tobias, ex-Pirate, as Dictated on His Death-bed, in the Year of Our Lord 1859.

The good John had scarcely made his leisurely, distinguished appearance at his desk on the morning when I too entered by the other.

"Now for the document," we both exclaimed in a breath.

"Here it is," he said, taking up a rather grimy-looking foil of foolscap from in front of him, which, as he pointed out, was evidently the work of a person of very little education, and began to read as follows:

County of Travis, State of Texas. Dated 1859.

Feeling my end is near, I make the following statement of my own free will and without solicitation. In full exercise of all my faculties, and feel that I am doing my duty by so doing.

I was born in the city of Liverpool, England (on the 5th day of December 1784). My father was a seaman and when I was young I followed the same occupation. And it happened that when, on a passage from Spain to the West Indies, our ship was attacked by free-traders, as they called themselves, but they were pirates. We all did our best, but were overpowered, and the whole crew, except three, were killed. I was one of the three they did not kill. They carried us on board their ship and kept us until next day, when they asked us to join them. They tried to get us to join them willingly, but we would not, when they became enraged and loaded three cannon and fired each one of us before the mouth of each cannon and told us to take our choice to join them, as they would touch the guns and that damn quick. It is useless to say we were overpowered, for we were all dead. So we came one of the pirates' crew. Both of my companions were killed in less time than six months, but I was with them for more than two years, in which time we collected a vast quantity of money from different ships we captured and we buried a great amount in two different lots. I helped to bury my own hands. The location of which I will now try to point out, so that it can be found without trouble in the Bahamas Islands. After I had been with them for more than two years, we were attacked by a large warship and our commander told us to fight for our lives, as it would be death if we were taken. But the guns of our ship were too small for the warship, so our ship was run alongside of our vessels and tried to board us, but we were sinking too fast, so she had to haul off. When our vessel sank with everything on board, and I escaped by swimming under the stern of the ship, as our sank, without being seen, and holding on to the ship until dark, when I swam to a portion of the wrecked vessel floating not far away. And on that I floated. The next morning the ship was not seen. I was picked up by a passing vessel the next day as a shipwrecked seaman.

And let me say here, I know that no one escaped alive from our vessel except myself and those that were taken by the pirates. I know that no other man knows of this treasure except myself and I must be and is where we buried it and today and unless you get it out, this statement it will remain there always and do no one any good.

"Therefore, it is your duty to trace it up and get it for your own benefit, as well as others, so delay not, but act as soon as possible."

I will now describe the places, locations, marks, etc., etc., so plainly that it can be found, without any trouble.

The first is a sum of one million and a half dollars ($1,500,000).

At this point John paused. We all took a long breath, and Charlie Webster gave a soft whistle and smacked his lips.

"A million and a half dollars. What ho!"

Then I, happening to cast my eye through the open door, caught sight of a face gazing through the ironwork of the outer office with a fixed and glittering expression, a face anything but prepossessing, the face of a half-breed, deeply pockmarked, with a coarse hook nose and evil-looking eyes, unnaturally close together. It was evident from his expression that he had not missed a word of the reading.

"There is someone in the outer office," I said, and John rose and went out.

"Good morning, Mr. Saunders," said an unpleasantly soft and cringing voice.

"Good morning," said John, somewhat grumpily. "What is it you want?"

It was some detail of account, which, being dispatched, the man shuffled off, with evident reluctance, casting a long, inquisitive look at us seated at the desk, and John, taking up the manuscript once more, resumed:

a sum of one million and one half dollars—buried at a spot known as Dead Men's Shoes, near Nassau, in the Bahamas Islands. About fifty feet (50 ft.) south of this Dead Men's Shoes is a rock, on which we cut the form of a compass. And twenty feet (20 ft.) East from the cay is another rock on which we cut a cross (X). Under this rock it is buried four feet (4 ft.) deep.

The other is a sum of one million dollars ($1,000,000). It is buried on what was known as Short Shift Island; on the highest point of this Short Shift Island is a large cabbage wood stump and stump (30 ft.) south of that stump is the treasure, buried five feet (5 ft.) deep and can be found without difficulty. Short Shift Island is a place where pirates' vessels stop to get fresh water. No great distance from Nassau, so it can be easily found.

The first pod was taken from a Spanish merchant and it is in Spanish silver dollars.

The other on Short Shift Island is in different kinds of money, taken from different ships of different nations—it is all good money.

Now friends, I have told you all that is necessary for you to know to recover these treasures and I leave it in your hands and it is my request that when you read this, you will at once take steps to recover it, and when you get it, it is my wish that you use it in a way most good to yourself and others. This is all I ask.

I am, truly your friend, HENRY P. TOBIAS.

"Henry P. Tobias," said Charlie Webster. "Never heard of him. Did you, John?"

"Never!"

And then there was a stir in the outer office. Someone was asking for the secretary of the treasury. So John rose.

"I must get to work now, boys. We can talk it over tonight." And then, handing me the manuscript, "Take it home with you, if you'd like, and look it over at your leisure."

As Charlie Webster and I passed out into the street I noticed the fellow of the sinister pockmarked visage standing near the window of the inner office. The window was open, and anyone standing outside could easily have heard everything that passed inside. As the fellow caught my eye he smiled unpleasantly and slunk off down the street.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

ROUND SHOULDERS.

Stoop shoulders, round back, uneven shoulders, narrow chest, relaxed or slouchy attitude, as the condition is variously known, may signify a spinal curvature, and for his reason very child or youth is affected by it. A physician who examines patients carefully, that is, is stripped to the waist.

Mothers who do not appreciate the importance of seeing their children to wear narrow, high heeled shoes, which impose upon her an attitude or posture like that of a tired flat-footed street car conductor. Spring heels are the hygienic and sensible, that is, intelligent, equipment for girls' shoes, at least until the girls are through going to school. But if rouge, powder and cosmetics are essential to a school girl's welfare, let her have the French heels and make a thorough job of it. Her future is not bright anyway.

Round shoulders are never outgrown. Unless proper physical training is applied early and faithfully the condition is sure to become fixed and the victim permanently deformed.

Peels Off Corns Between Toes

The Great Corn Loosener of the Age. Never Fails. Painless.

A corn mashed, squeezed and crushed all day long, in between two toes! You can try the desperate, "treat 'em rough" way and try to dig it out and lie prone on the floor, with the heels anchored under a dresser or bedrail. Clasp hands behind the neck. Slowly inhale and raise head and shoulders as high as possible from the floor; then slowly exhale and assume the prone again. Repeat this two or three times night and morning. Corns first, and gradually increase from week to week.

Swimming is one of the best exercises for the correction of round shoulders and sunken chest.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Soldiers are a Romantic Lot

Returning soldiers tell me that they were led into the army by a romantic lot. Well, they were not—but veterans are a romantic lot and you must discount many years they tell when they get back home.

Baby's Nighty

Please advise me how to clothe baby at bedtime. She is teething yet, and I am afraid to make changes. Also, what she may eat besides her mother's milk. I am made with condensed milk; while she is teething. (Mrs. H.)

ANSWER—Assuming the baby is eight months old, undress her at 6 p. m., bathe her, powder her, rub her back with a warm oil, and let her kick and play, then put on her soft muslin or flannel nightgown, long enough to draw her feet through to cover in the foot, and tuck her in bed for the night. She will probably continue "teething"—whatever that may be—until she gets suitable food. Can't you find fresh milk? Rickeys, anemia and all sorts of troubles are in store for your baby unless you begin proper feeding right now.

The Heart of the Richest Rye

Choice crops from many rye fields are viewed by experts. The best is selected, milled to a flour of unusual fineness and sent to the Oswald Jaeger Bakery.

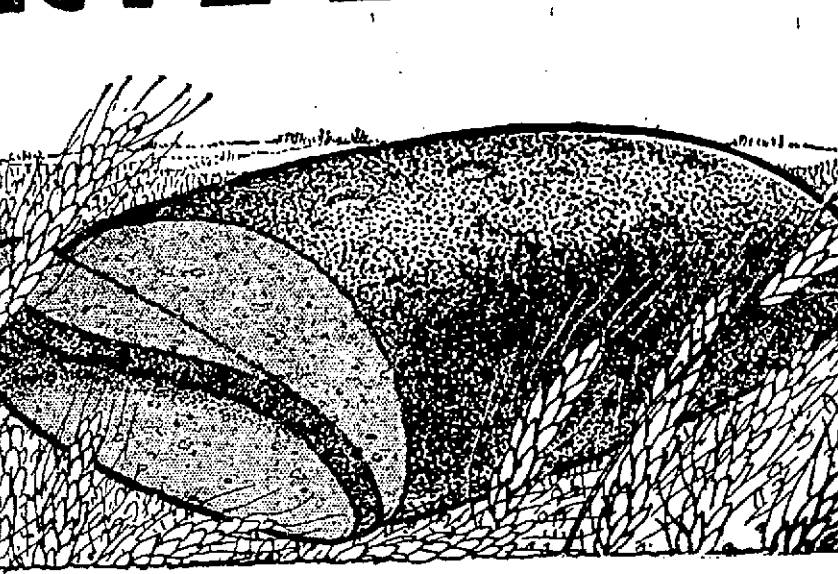

The result is Sichling's Genuine Rye Bread—fine-grained, rich-crusted, a rye bread that has been a favorite for many years. Sichling's Genuine Rye Bread is made by a special 24-hour process. Even-heated gas flame ovens insure that uniform baking which partly accounts for the wonderful Sichling flavor, and makes the bread stay fresh longer.

SIDE TALKS —By— RUTH CAMERON

WHY WOMAN'S NATURE IS MISUNDERSTOOD.

In a book on feminist matters, one can cross an interesting hypothesis the other day—that the true nature of woman is entirely misunderstood because for centuries almost everything written about woman was written by men.

I like this idea. It explains so many things. The familiar contention, for example, that women are greater talkers than men. They may be, but it is because they have no doubts about that, but put a man and a woman together and who does most of the talking? Doesn't the man lecture on that great topic, "How to win the woman's love?" (The author who has been looking over my shoulder wishes to differ with me at this point. He says the woman listens before marriage but she makes up for it afterwards.)

Many Men Love to Say "I Told You So."

Then there is the thoroughly masculine assumption that women say "I told you so" and men never do. I believe I have tilted at this theory before. Men hate to be proved wrong and when events have proved them wrong, to have a woman say "I told you so" is simply not to be endured. And so they have tried to prevent it by branding those words as a peculiarly feminine and objectionable trait. It has been my experience that men say "I told you so" just as much as women; perhaps more, because there isn't any such sex tradition to lighten them away from it.

What is Your Experience?

Then there is the thoroughly masculine assumption that women say "I told you so" and men never do.

Jess Willard Going Big; Jack Dempsey Forced to Quit Boxing

By George McManus.

INFECTION FEARED IN EYE WOUND

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Toledo, June 10.—Because of danger of infection, Jack Dempsey, manager of Jess Willard, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, decided not to allow Dempsey to do any more boxing until the wound over his left eye, inflicted in a training bout yesterday, is thoroughly healed.

Physicians took two stitches in the inch long wound, which is just at the edge of the eyebrow. The skin was split in a contest a year ago and was reopened yesterday when Dempsey's negro sparring partner caught him a glancing blow with a left hook.

Dempsey will continue his road work and other exercises.

Willard said today his training had never been so easy for him as it has been for his coming championship contest.

"Road work used to be punishment of the worst sort for me," the champion said. "My feet always seemed as heavy as lead and I was tired and lame at the finish. Now however, it is really a pleasure. I went between five and six miles yesterday and felt fresh and strong at the finish."

CHICK EVANS STAYS IN BIG GOLF MEET

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Newton, Mass., June 10.—Players in the national open championship at the Braeburn Country Club began their second round of 18 holes today with more favorable weather than yesterday. Heavy showers during the night had thoroughly soaked the ground, however, and it required a good carry to get distance.

The players scores at the end of the first 18 holes left the gallery as much in doubt as to the winner as before the 182 entrants started play yesterday.

Francis Ouimet and Charles Sayers were the leaders, both having scores low enough to place them near the top of the list and they will fight it out for first honors with a dozen professionals.

LIST OF BASEBALL COMEBACKS MIGHT MAKE GOOD FODDER

The iron of fate as applied to baseball is an interesting phase for study. The number of times a ball player who is sold or traded or released by a club, only to turn up later and defeat his former associates, is surprising to say the least.

If all such comebacks were collected authoritatively, they would make some of the most thrilling sort of baseball fodder for the fan who takes his game seriously.

A short time ago, the Boston Red Sox visited Cleveland. The Beantown crowd had been on the skids for several days when they hit the Indians wigwam.

In each of the games played there, Boston got away well and looked to have the contest clinched, only to lose out in a later frame and at the hands of Larry Gardner, a man who was not good enough for the champions a couple of seasons ago, when they shunted him to Connie Mack's trailing club.

Gardner's work against Boston was positively brilliant. In the field he took everything that came near his hot corner, and at bat it was his timely clearing that won for Cleveland and on each occasion when the champs had a comfortable lead and their hurriers were working like machines.

It was work of a day's proportion, clearing that won for Cleveland and on each occasion when the champs had a comfortable lead and their hurriers were working like machines.

When a team releases a player and he goes to another club, it is generally a safe bet that the discharged one will turn the trick on his former teammates at the earliest opportunity.

When Jim Thorpe went to Cincinnati from New York, he managed to break up a couple of ball games in favor of the Reds over the Giants by a timely climb when least expected.

Fred Mitchell, of the Cubs, said recently he disliked to see a former Cub player come to bat in a pinch for another team because it usually meant trouble, and Fred was thinking of Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals when he made his statement.

Williams has cut in on the Cubs' winning column several times since he went to work for the Quakers.

BY JACK KEENE.

The Royal Yacht Squadron, the most important yachting organization in the British Isles, is planning to resume racing off Cowes this summer, according to word received in New York. The announcement was made by Commodore Lord Ormonde at the annual spring meeting of the organization held a few weeks ago at Claridge's hotel in London. The senior flag officer stated that provided sufficient suitable yachts were fitted and in commission the club would offer prizes for them at a regatta to be held off Cowes in August. The club, however, will make no attempt to hold Cowes week this year.

If the New York Yacht club took similar steps, undoubtedly there would be at least one race for the organization this summer. Every day one hears of some new yacht going into commission. Of course, the number is small when compared with the number of the "floats" taking to the water, one or two of the "forties" and an equal number of the thirty footers of the club. Undoubtedly, held by the small boat racing.

Word comes from Boston that the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club is anxious to challenge for the Seawanhaka cup, originally offered by the Seawanhaka Yacht club of Oyster Bay, Conn., but now held by a down east yachting organization.

It is a good ten years since there has been a race for the Seawanhaka cup. The Seawanhaka and the Massachusetts, which successfully defended the cup, were sold to the Southern Yacht club of New Orleans. They have been in southern waters for years. A challenge for the trophy would create great interest in down east yachting circles.

Edie Rousch, the Reds' star center fielder, has been hampered in his play this spring by a lame shoulder, but hopes to swing into his usual stride in the near future.

Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee lightweight, probably will be unable to box for at least a month as a result of an injured hand. The injury was received in his match with Johnny Dundee of New York.

both local teams, Browns, Cubs, and Fairy Apprentices, all Beloit nines, Albany, Milton, Milton Junction, Argyle, Evansville, Stoughton, Footville, Edgerton, Lincoln Giants, Rockford and possibly the Sycamore Athletic club, Milwaukee.

Horsemens to Take Charge of Stable of Trotters

James Alder, of this city, left Monday evening for Walhalla, North Dakota, where he will take charge of a stable of trotters and pacers for Dr. L. Landry. This will make the fourth year that Mr. Alder has campaigned the doctor's horses. Five years ago, Mr. Alder made an enviable reputation, driving the bad tempered mare, Mabel Riser, starting in 15 races, he won nine first moneys and six seconds and thirds.

FLEMING PITCHES EDGERTON TO 5-4 WIN OVER FOOTVILLE

(By Special Correspondent)

Edgerton, June 9.—The Highway trailers scored their second triumph over the Fast Footville White Sox at the Driving park yesterday afternoon before a crowd of loyal fans totaling over 300. The score was 5 to 4 in nine innings of fast and exciting baseball.

Footville started the scoring in the fourth inning when Silverthorn brought home a marker with the assistance of Stuvengen. Determined not to be outdone the locals registered three tallies in their half of the fourth when Olson lifted a two-bagger in left field with three men on bases, and maintained the lead until the sixth when three White Sox crossed the home threshold. This ended the scoring by the visitors.

Just to show they were not down hearted when the home boys produced one in the seventh which made the score a tie at 4 all and not being satisfied with this they scored their last and the deciding score of the game in the eighth. Footville threatened in their half of the ninth when Brown first up, singled, but received no help from his teammates and died on first.

Fleming of the Janesville Black Hawks pitched a good game for Footville having ten strikeouts to his credit, allowing nine hits and walking one man. Hermanson of the locals pitched just as good a game as his opponent on the mound although striking out 5, allowing ten hits and walking two men. But for errors on both sides there would have been very little scoring.

The locals are scheduled to play at Madison next Sunday, but it is possible this game will be cancelled and a team brought here instead. June 22, the Trailers play a fast Milwaukee team on the local diamond and June 23, Janesville is scheduled to appear here. Murphy of Janesville and his aggregation will meet the surprise of the locals. They must have a better team in most respects than they had last time they crossed bats with the Trailers if they expect to have a look in.

THE relationship existing between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and its employees has always been so harmonious as to constitute one large, happy family.

As the stronger guard and care for the weaker in the small family, just so has the Company looked after those of its employees who have grown old in the service—a liberal annuity attends the pressure of advancing years.

For those active in the service the Company provides steady employment, good working conditions and satisfactory compensation.

In return the Company has required efficiency—the kind of whole-hearted, painstaking effort which a well paid employee, working under pleasant conditions, is glad and happy to give.

It is this working spirit, developing in this highly specialized branch of industry the highest type of co-operative interest, which enables the Company to discharge its obligations as a public servant in a manner satisfactory and beneficial to the public, and to the 4628 stockholders, not one of whom holds as much as ten percent of the total stock.

There are 19,568 men and women in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) family, more than double the enrollment of ten years ago—yet of those who were with the Company in 1909, more than 2000 are still actively engaged in the business, while over 800 are wearing the gold button, symbolizing twenty years of continuous service.
